Almas Temple Shriners Today Will Give Out 650 Baskets of Christmas Bounties for Worthy Poor

W. C. Long, chairman of Almas Temple, Mystic Shrine, supervising the packing of the Christmas baskets to be given away to the poor this morning. A corner of the distribution headquarters.

Six hundred and fifty families will be made happy for Christmas when the Almas Temple, of the Mystic Shrine, distribute their Christmas baskets this morning from the vacant building at Thirteenth and G streets northwest. It has been the yearly custom of this organization to provide a wholesome dinner on this festive day for those who they know are worthy.The method of gathering the names of those worthy of this charity is to have each member give to the committee the names of those who he knows are in need at this season of the year. A ticket is sent to those and on Christmas Eve they present this ticket at the distribution headquarters and receive in return a basket of food.The baskets, which were packed yesterday under the supervision of W. C. Long, chairman of the Christmas Almas charity fund, contain a shoulder of ham, a can of corn, a tin of beans, two pounds of butter, a package of sugar, a pound of coffee and a generous helping of potatoes and apples."THE CINDERELLA MAN" IS QUIET LITTLE ROMANCEEdward Childs Carpenter's New Comedy, Which Had Its Premiere at the Belasco Theater Last Evening, Furnishes a Pleasant Holiday Entertainment with Its Appealing Love Story and Cleverly Pointed Epigrams.

By JULIA CHANDLER MANZ.

Edward Childs Carpenter's comedy, which had its premiere at the Belasco Theater last evening, with Oliver Morosco as its sponsor, is quite in keeping with the Christmas spirit telling as it does a romantic story with the Yuletide holidays as a background.It isn't a great play, nor a thrilling one, but it does furnish a quiet evening of pleasant entertainment in the simplicity of its theme, which is sprinkled liberally with more or less clever epigrams.The story has to do with a young writer, struggling for fame in surroundings of poverty. There comes next door to him the daughter of Morris Caner, who has suffered the bereavement of her mother in Paris. The girl's parents have been separated for years, but when her maternal protector crosses "The Great Divide" he turns to America in his desecration to seek protection under the roof which her father made impossible for the mother Marjorie no loved.The girl finds Marjorie Caner's home a joyous congenial environment than did her mother before her, but, abetted by one of her father's friends, Romney Evans, she manages an interest in life by stealing, inadvertently, across her roof to the attic of the aspiring young author, bringing to his miserable quarters a basket load of Christmas cheer.Marjorie's interest in Anthony Quintard has been awakened on the evening of her home coming by Albert Sewell, a musician who has turned to music one of the young author's verses, and who is looking for a suitable libretto for his new opera.Sewell has offered a prize of ten thousand dollars for an available book, and when Marjorie makes her entrance to the marvel home of Quintard she finds him engaged in writing a book for the continent. Persevered that she is the companion of the "Veiled Princess," this whimsical name for the young millionaire who has returned from France Quintard accepts her fairy godmother gifts, and her good service in typewriting his work until in their equal simplicity they involve themselves in a most unpleasant situation which is in the end satisfactorily straightened out, and the young author finds his path of love smoothed by his newly acquired success.The first two acts of the play are a bit talky and more too slowly, but with a little pruning should whip into shape and measure up to the better standard of the second two, which run with quicker action and hold the greater interest of an audience."The Cinderella Man" takes its title from the similarity of the friendship young artist to the storybook, and the fairy godmother brought happiness when her lot seemed the most hopeless, and the good fortune which befalls him elicits our pleasure with an enthusiasm almost equal that we felt for the little maid of the fair tale of our childhood days.An admirable cast was responsible for the splendid presentation of the little romance last night. Phoebe Foster visualized the girl Marjorie with delicately naturalness, reading her lines with a singularly pleasant inflection, and charmed her audience by the youthfulness of her beauty and the genuineness of her acting.Playing opposite Miss Foster Shelly Full gives an admirable performance as Anthony Quintard, while Frank Bacon as Jerry Primrose and Lillian Dix as Quintard's landlady achieve in their respective character parts distinctive personal success.The supporting cast includes Manfee Johnson, Theodore Babcock, William Verance, Hubert Wilke, Charles Lane, Helen Turner, and Reginald Mason. The four acts which have been staged by Robert Milton are beautiful examples of scenic art.CASTORIAFor Infants and Children

BIG CHRISTMAS FEEDAll Equines and Their Drivers Will Be Given Feast at Horse Show Grounds Tomorrow.Word was sent out yesterday to all drivers who could be reached, inviting them to bring their horses to the free Christmas dinner to horses at the Horse Show Grounds, Eighteenth and D streets northwest, between 10 and 4 o'clock tomorrow. All hungry horses will be welcomed to the feast of oats and fodder.
Drivers will be given hot coffee and doughnuts.Postmen's horses, cab and express horses, and others that have helped to make Christmas happy, are especially welcome to the horse banquet. Provision has been made for all the animals that will turn up, and the most humble ash-cart horse will have an opportunity to revel in a box-stall and munch oats like an equine millionaire.MOTOR GOSSIP

By "ST" GROGAN

Ray Kranstuber, office manager of the local branch of the United States Tire Company, evidently learned more at the factory convention last week than merely tire construction and sales talk. He also picked up a few ideas on window decoration, and immediately upon his return home started to put them into practice.As a result Ray has one of the prettiest decorated Christmas windows in the city.
Nobby tread tires and Christmas greens form the principal decorations.Colds Cause Headache and Grip.

TO SERVE HORSE MEATMakes Good Steak, Stew, Hash, or Pie. He Says—No Ban on Use Here.Washingtonians who like horse meat in the form of stew, hash, or other style may partake of it to their heart's content. Health Officer William C.
Woodward said yesterday that there never has been, and probably never will be, any restriction on the use of horse flesh as a food in the District.It is feared, however, that if the public acquired a taste for "La Boche," which means horse steak-hotels, cafes, and lunch rooms would have to add emery stones to the usual list of table delicacies, for Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, pure food expert, points out, "The meat is somewhat tougher than beef, but wholesome and nutritious. There is no hygienic objection to horse meat as a food for humans if the meat comes from young, healthy horses," continues the food expert."It can be prepared in a number of ways, fried as steaks, stewed, hashed, made into pie, or cooked exactly like any other kind of meat. It has very little fat to it, and that little has a rich yellow color. It is by this absence of fat, the coarser fiber, and the great amount of animal sugar it contains that horse meat can be told from beef."PASTOR RUSSELL WILL LECTURE HERE SUNDAY"The Battle of Armageddon" Will Be Theme of Famous Critic of "Hell-Fire" Theory.Pastor Russell, noted author and Bible lecturer, president of the International Bible Students' Association, Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, and other religious organizations centering in Brooklyn, New York, will visit Washington next Sunday and deliver an address at the New National Theater at 8 p. m. His topic will be "The Battle of Armageddon."Since the outbreak of hostilities in Europe special attention has been drawn to the Brooklyn pastor's teachings, in view of the fact that for thirty years, in his lectures and in his books on Bible study, which have attained an immense circulation, he has predicted a time of great trouble and distress upon the world, to commence with the autumn of 1914. The pastor declares this view is well substantiated by the Bible prophecies, and he believes the present struggle in Europe to be a partial fulfillment of these and the prelude to the great "Battle of Armageddon," which will involve all nations, and finally introduce the kingdom of Christ.Pastor Russell has become world-famous during the past thirty-five years through his outspoken antagonism to the teachings of a place of fire and brimstone as the eternal home of the wicked. He declares the doctrine contrary alike to reason and the Bible and a blasphemous misrepresentation of the Divine character.Files Cured in 6 to 14 Days
